Five Provo Stakes Cited For July 4th Freedom Festival

PROVO—A George Washington honor medal has been awarded to the Provo Fourth of July Freedom Festival for its role in promoting appreciation of American liberties.

The medal was presented recently on behalf of the Freedoms Foundation of Valley Forge by Justice Lester A. Wade of the Utah Supreme Court. Justice Wade is a member of the Freedoms Foundation Awards jury for 1958.

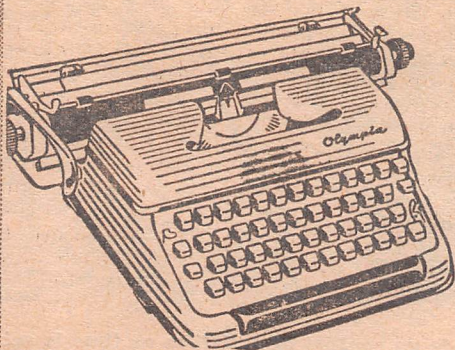

The honor came to the five Provo stakes of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints for their sponsorship of the annual Fourth of July Freedom Festival in Provo. The medal portrays George Washington in an attitude of prayer.

The award, received by Victor J. Bird, president of Utah Stake and chairman of the stake president's council, was the only one to be presented in Utah this year.

The award was judged in the division which is designed to promote appreciation of liberty and the American way of life.

ARTHUR PRICE
... will be 85

Former Designer Of Temples Works On Despite His 85 Years

Retire at 65? Arthur Price passed that mark 20 years ago and is still going strong.

While younger men are living in the past, Elder Price finds much to keep him active. "I haven't time to look back. I'm looking forward to the future," he declared.

than 3,000 male endowments were performed on M when Priesthood men from stakes in the immediate Los Angeles area were invited to do temple work. It surpassed the 2,946 male endowments done in the first male day of temple work Oct. 4. He said the temple could take care of 4,000 endowments in one day of capacity sessions.

Two other all-male sessions have been scheduled on Sunday days in September and November to accommodate Priesthood members extending to Klamath Stake in Oregon and San Diego stakes in southern California.

Under the program outlined by Pres. Bowring, the temple will open at 5 a.m. with sessions scheduled every hour through 5 p.m. There will be no living endowments performed during these sessions. Pres. Bowring said:

the mother of their seven children.

Watching the Building Department grow from a small man organization—himself—its present large size has been one of the interesting experiences of Elder Price's life.
